Philosophy in an Inclusive Key

Summer 2008

A Summer Institute for Undergraduates

ROCK ETHICS INSTITUTE
THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY
July 20—26, 2008

Designed to encourage undergraduates from underrepresented groups to consider future study of philosophy, PISKI emphasizes the on-going project of greater inclusiveness that is transforming the discipline, inviting students to be participants in the conversation.

LIVING PHILOSOPHY: EXPERIENCE AND TRANSFORMATION

Shannon Sullivan, Director
Professor of Philosophy, Women's Studies and
African and African American Studies at Penn State

Guest Faculty: Mariana Ortega and Ladelle McWhorter

Along with nontraditional scholarship such as feminist, critical race, and disability theory, students will read standard texts that show how different human experiences have helped shape philosophical reflection. In addition, writing assignments, visiting lecturers, and mentoring will help students learn that their own perspectives matter to philosophy.

Participants will be named Iris Marion Young Diversity Scholars and will receive support from the Iris Marion Young Diversity Scholars Fund.

Undergraduate women or men from underrepresented groups including racial, ethnic and sexual minorities, and people with disabilities are urged to apply. All students will receive a stipend, free transportation, and lodging.

Applications due: April 15, 2008 • For more details see http://rockethics.psu.edu/piksi
